Weather Policy

The Binford Farmer's Market operates as a rain or shine market. That means we stand by the saying, "If farmers can grow in it, you can shop in it!" A little sprinkling of rain or cloud cover still make great days to visit your local farmers market. Producers often work rain or shine and depend on you to still come out and shop.

Check the local weather reports and be prepared for with rain boots, rain jackets, and sturdy umbrellas. Farmer market customer and vendor safety is of the utmost importance to the Binford Farmer's Market.

If weather conditions are severe (heavy lightning, rain, thunder, or wind) prior to market hours, the farmers' market management team will decide whether the market will be delayed or cancelled. Updates will be posted to Facebook and Twitter. Vendors, please look for an email from the market manager.
If weather conditions turn severe during market hours, we ask that customers and vendors take shelter in an enclosed vehicle or inside Northview Church until inclement weather has passed. Weather updates will be posted to Facebook and Twitter.

Vendors must ensure that adequate weights are attached to their tents at all times during inclement weather. If winds are extreme, they may be advised to take tent canopies down to ensure safety of fellow vendors and customers.

We hope to have as little rainy and windy days as possible! When weather is severe, please use your best judgment and stay updated via our social media handles and website.
